

Nancy Murray Ph.D

Faculty Associate

University of Wisconsin-Madison School of Ecology

Dr. Nancy Murray is currently a faculty associate in the Consumer Sciences Department of the School of Human Ecology teaching Retailing courses. Prior to academics she worked in the retail industry in the areas of buying, planning and product development. She holds a doctoral degree from University of Minnesota-Twin Cities, an MBA from Cardinal Stritch and an undergraduate degree from University of Wisconsin-Stout.