

Tim Buhl B.B.A. M.B.A.

Adjunct Faculty, Lecturer

Center for Professional and Executive Development,
Wisconsin School of Business

Tim is a Lecturer for the Wisconsin School of Business in the Marketing Department, instructing Strategic Pricing, Marketing, Supply Chain/Capital Management and Accounting. He has extensive experience leveraging a proven industry track record of leadership, project management, working capital release and overall operational improvement initiatives. Tim teaches Strategy Formulation and Execution, Finance, and Supply Chain for the Wisconsin School of Business Center for Professional and Executive Development and is also a Principal at a finance and supply chain services firm working with companies on strategy execution.

Tim began his career as an auditor for a top public accounting firm followed by experience as a transactional black belt, master black, and strategy team member for the $4B Tyco Flow Control division of Tyco International. Tim's subsequent corporate roles include CFO and President for manufacturing organizations where he had responsibility for strategic planning, risk mitigation, establishment of measurement systems, and overall financial performance.

Tim earned a BBA in accounting and finance and MBA in supply chain management and marketing, both from the University of Wisconsin-Madison. Tim is an active CPA and has received black belt, PMI PMP, and SCMP certifications.